

View video clip at: <http://channel.nationalgeographic.com/channel/predatorsatwar/>

What happens when five great carnivores are forced to compete in excessively close quarters? What becomes of their natural order during catastrophic circumstances? Who hunts and who is hunted on this hotly contested battleground?

National Geographic Channel's Predators at War puts you inside the mind and on the battlefield with five fearsome predators. Join us for this innovative look at some of Africa's most fearsome predators as they battle the environment and each other during a brutal drought.

Let the battle begin.